This qualification makes her eligible for admission to the world-renowned Technical University of Munich, Germany in fields such as Data Science, Artificial Intelligence, Cyber Security, and Ethical Hacking.

With these dual accomplishments—patent registration and international admission eligibility—SaiShraddha has earned wide recognition and congratulations from all quarters for her exceptional talent, the college stated in its press release.

Through the QR code developed by SaiShraddha, passengers can easily access complete information about bus services. After scanning the QR code, a website opens where passengers first select their district, then taluka, and subsequently view all buses departing from that region. The portal provides details such as bus timings, routes, distances, bus types, and travel schemes offered by the ST Corporation. This innovation enables passengers to plan their journeys a day in advance. Nearly 5 million people use this QR code every month. At present, it is implemented in Ahmednagar and Nashik districts, and soon it will be expanded across Maharashtra.

In recognition of her innovation, SaiShraddha has been honored by Noble World Records as the "World's Youngest Tech Prodigy" and "Youngest Patent Holder."

SaiShraddha will complete her Class XI and XII from Sanjivani Junior College, after which she will pursue her BS degree at IIT Madras. She has already planned to pursue her Master's degree (MS) in Germany thereafter. It is remarkable that her future educational path is already well-defined while she is still in Class XI.

Sanjivani's Chairman Shri Nitin Kolhe, Managing Trustee Shri Amit Kolhe, Principal Anushrita Singh, and Vice-Principal M.K. Sonawane congratulated SaiShraddha and her mentor Prof. Sagar Nikam for this outstanding success.

At Sanjivani Educational Campus, students are not limited to textbook learning. Instead, their unique interests and skills are identified and nurtured to achieve excellence in diverse fields. In line with this philosophy, SaiShraddha's passion for Artificial Intelligence and her drive to innovate were encouraged by her teachers. She has now been selected for the BS program at IIT Madras, with a 50% fee concession for the 4-year course. Furthermore, she has been awarded a 100% scholarship, including free accommodation, for her Master's degree in Germany. This is indeed a major achievement."—Shri Amit Kolhe, Managing Trustee
